GREEN JOBS FAIR LINKS EMPLOYERS WITH JOB-SEEKERS MARCH 27
Energy Trust Better Living Show is Bringing Employers and Job-Seekers Together to Help the Environment and the Economy

Portland, Ore. – February 12, 2008 – The second annual Energy Trust Better Living Home, Garden & Lifestyle Show will host an array of environmentally responsible companies looking to hire employees committed to people, the planet and profit. Job-seekers can visit the Better Living Show's Green Jobs Fair, sponsored by Clean Edge, for free on Friday, March 27, from noon to 4 p.m.

Job seekers, as well as high school and college students are invited to meet environmentally conscious companies that are hiring for sustainable careers. These companies will discuss upcoming opportunities in sustainable industries, the skills needed to get there and how clean technology will fuel the next generation of green jobs.

Here are just a few companies:

- Clean Edge – Leading research and publishing firm helping companies, investors and policymakers understand and profit from clean technologies.
- TriLibrium – Certified Public Accounting firm dedicated to creating a truly sustainable economy across the Triple-Bottom Line – people, planet, profit.
- Portland Energy Conservation, Inc. – A private, not-for-profit corporation focused on advancing responsible energy use by creating programs for Residential customers to Large Commercial customers.
- Protingent Staffing – Top provider of technical engineering talent to companies in the US, looking for qualified, dedicated engineers.
- Green Career Central - Provide tools, information and resources via membership website to green job seekers and college students who want to find a career in the green economy.

Additional business sectors attending the Green Jobs Fair include: socially responsible investing and banking, sustainable business operations companies, clean energy, green building, colleges, utilities, solar companies and socially responsible businesses.
